

Whistleblower Protection and Investigation Policy

Tuskegee University

I. Policy Statement

Every Tuskegee Board member, officer, faculty member, staff employee, contract employee, temporary or term employee, student, volunteer, consultant, and vendor (each a "Covered Person") is required to comply with the laws, regulations, and policies governing or relating to the operation and functioning of the university, including all such requirements concerning the use of university resources (regardless of whether the resources are from a source that is public or private). Tuskegee's internal controls and operating procedures are intended to detect, prevent and deter improper activities. However, violations of laws, regulations, policies and procedures may occur (see "Definitions"). The University has a responsibility to investigate and report allegations of suspected improper activities to appropriate parties and identify the actions taken by the University in response. The purpose of this p

The University will provide notice to the University community in the event of a change to the DUO.

V. Whistleblower Policy

1. Reporting Allegations of Suspected Improper Activities

A. Filing a Report

- a) Any Covered Person may report allegations of suspected improper activities to the DUO or through the Whistleblower Hotline. Employees may also report allegations of improper activities to their supervisor. Allegations of suspected improper activities may be reported anonymously.
- b) Reports of allegations of suspected improper activities may be made orally or in writing, although the University encourages reports to be made in writing to assure a clear understanding of the issues raised. Such reports should be factual rather than speculative or conclusory, and contain as much specific information as possible to allow for an accurate assessment of the suspected activity.
- c) If the alleged improper activity involves the DUO, the report should be made to the DUO's supervisor, the University's General Counsel or the Whistleblower Hotline. If the alleged improper activity involves the President, the report should be made to the DUO or the Whistleblower Hotline.
- d) When a person reports allegations of suspected improper activities to an appropriate authority, the report is known as a protected disclosure.
- e) All University employees in supervisory roles must be receptive to oral or written communications alleging suspected improper activities and must report such

- a) The matter is the result of a significant internal control or policy deficiency;
- b) The matter is likely to receive media or other public attention;
- c) The matter involves the misuse of University resources or creates exposure to potentially significant liability;
- d) The allegations interview anonymous whistleblowers, it may be more difficult to evaluate the credibility of the allegations and, therefore, such allegations may be less likely to cause an investigation to be initiated.

5. Whistleblowers are “reporting parties,” not investigators. They are not to conduct investigative activities unless requested by investigative University personnel
6. A whistleblower’s right to protection from retaliation does not include immunity for complicity in the matters that are the subject of the allegations or an ensuing investigation.
7. Whistleblowers will be notified of the disposition of their report absent overriding legal or public interest reasons.

F. Anonymous Reporting System

1. The University has implemented an anonymous reporting system, provided by Lighthouse Services, to enhance communication and empower individuals to promote safety, security, and ethical behavior. This anonymous, confidential system can be used to report situations, events, or actions by individuals or groups that an individual believes constitute improper or inappropriate conduct. 1.6(u)10.8(r)
