

The Journal of Academic Administration in Higher Education, 10 (1), 1-6.

*Coco, C.M. (2013). Emotional intelligence and career competencies: Finding satisfaction in academic administration. American Journal of Management, 13(3), 94-97.

*Guttikonda, R., & Coco, C. M. (2013). Incorporating Fink's learning experience model in the re-designing of the flagship accounting course. Journal of Accounting and Finance, 13(5), 116-124.

* Coco, C. M. (2012). The value of significant learning strategies in undergraduate education. The Journal of Learning in Higher Education, 8(1), 1-4.

* Guttikonda, R., & Coco, C. M. (2012). Lessons learned from creating significant learning experiences: Re-designing an accounting course with broader educational implications. Journal of Higher Education Theory and Practice, 12(2), 98-104.

*Coco, C. M. (2011). Emotional intelligence in higher education: Strategic implications for academic leaders. Journal of Higher Education Theory and Practice, 11(2), 112-117.

*Coco, C. M. (2011). Emotional intelligence and job satisfaction: The EQ relationship for deans of U.S. business schools. The Journal of Academic Administration in Higher Education, 7(1), 1-8.

*Lonis-Shumate, S. R., Rivera, D., Coco, C. M., Johnson, M. K. (In Press). Assessing the relationship between attachment style and emotional intelligence: Advocating for attachment measurement as an employment training tool. The Consortium Journal of Hospitality and Tourism.

Refereed Proceedings

Coco, C. M. (2015

Reviewed/Refereed Presentations

- Coco, C. M. (2016). CBIS Faculty Research Forum: Presentation on Organizational Stakeholders: Student Perceptions on Ranking the Most Critical to Success: Tuskegee University, Tuskegee, AL.
- Coco, C. M. (2015). Organizational Stakeholders: Student Perceptions on Ranking the Most Critical to Success. Abstract. Joint International Conferences Program and Abstracts: ABWIC-ICLAHE. Nashville, TN.
- Coco, C. M. (2015). CBIS Faculty Research Forum: Presentation on Managing emotions: Student behavior and emotional security: Tuskegee University, Tuskegee, AL.
- Coco, C. M. (2014). ABWIC-ICLAHE Conference. Presentation on Managing emotions: Student behavior and emotional security: Nashville, TN.
- Coco, C. M., Hall Jackson, F., Thomas, C., & Chen, C. L. (2014). ABWIC-ICLAHE Conference. Presentation on Applying information technology to business course content: Perceptions of faculty learning and development: Nashville, TN.
- Coco, C. M., Hall Jackson, F., Thomas, C., & Chen, C. L. (2014). CBIS Faculty Research Forum: Presentation on Applying information technology to business course content: Perceptions of faculty learning and development: Tuskegee University, Tuskegee, AL.
- Suh, J., Coco, C. M., & Lanier, R. (2013). CBIS Faculty Research Forum: Presentation on The effect of transfer credit hours on student learning outcomes: Tuskegee University, Tuskegee, AL.
- Coco, C. M. (2013). ABWIC-ICLAHE Conference. Presentation on Emotional intelligence and career competencies: Finding satisfaction in academic administration: Nashville, TN.
- Coco, C. M., & Johnson, M. K. (2013). ABWIC-ICLAHE Conference. Presentation on Experiential learning: Understanding the need for emotional intelligence: Nashville, TN.
- Coco, C. M., Crumbly, J., & Hall Jackson, F. (2012). ABWIC-ICLAHE Conference. Presentation on The role of industry and university partnerships in developing significant learning outcomes related to business concepts: Nashville, TN.
- Coco, C. M. (2012). CBIS Faculty Research Forum: Presentation on The value of significant learning strategies in undergraduate education: Tuskegee University, Tuskegee, AL.
- Coco, C. M. (2011). ABWIC-ICLAHE Conference. Presentation on The value of significant learning strategies in undergraduate education: Nashville, TN.
- Guttikonda, R., & Coco, C. M. (2011). SWAAA Conference. Joint presentation on Lessons learned from creating significant learning experiences: 9 117.8 Tmore

